

- MIT Media Lab has been a “gold standard” in academic/industry collaboration for 25 years
- The Media Lab is evolving its model to meet today’s realities and opportunities
- Media Lab 2.0 could be a template for re-inventing the academic/industry relationship
- Radical new models for engaging venture capital community in early stage research

The Future of People and Technology

